St. Patrick's day parade
March 13, 2022

The 13th is a lucky day at Alphabets and the March chill did not freeze our fun. On Sunday, March 13, 2022, we joined the City of Asbury Park in celebrating the 8th Annual St. Patrick's Day Parade. The parade was led by bag pipers and dignitaries followed by the motley crew of Alphabets. The spectators enjoyed the wonderful floats and festive music. There were marching bands, performers, dancers, a stilt walker and even pets. Some of the local music venues provided floats.

With families and staff in tow we were 30+ strong and formed a wonderful group of parade revelers as we marched in all of our green finery. We marched from Ocean and Sunset Avenue south towards Cookman Avenue, coming to an end at City Hall. While beaded necklaces, gold coins and candy were being thrown, the crowd of spectators was blown away by our bottles of bubbles which had information about our Summerfest program. We were thrilled the parade resumed its' annual tradition this year, and that we were able to join our community in a safe celebration. Gathering from the smiling faces in the crowd, it was a successful, family oriented day.
